Carmel Valley Outlook

Vol. VI, No. 45 | 10 Cents | November 17, 1965

Joan Baez discusses her feelings about her school, people, politics and the Valley.

SCULPTOR-LOOKOUT Bill Livingston broke up the monotony of fire watching about three years ago by chiseling this stone face near the state fire lookout on the south side of Carmel Valley. The stone head is about two and a half feet high, and is about 300 feet from the "Sid Ormsbee Lookout," which is operated by the State Division of Forestry.

Letters to the Editor

EDITOR--

When the rains come, the Carmel River will once again flow, washing out the muck holes and the rotting remains of fingerling fish that have died in the stoney dryness. But the river can flow only when the dams overflow, for a water company has been allowed to ruin this river by sucking it dry for the primary consumptive use of persons far removed from Carmel Valley. How did the "old timers" ever allow this to happen? Regardless, the rights to a flowing river through our valley have been either taken away or given away. This water company advertises glowingly of their accomplishments in providing water to Monterey Peninsula, but they prudently avoid telling how they provide this water.

One cause that all of Carmel Valley should join in is a concerted action to return the river to the valley. Property values would skyrocket, and the resort business of the valley would once again enjoy prosperity instead of foreclosure. No master plan could ever do as much for Carmel Valley as could an all-year river.

This need not deprive the Monterey Peninsula of water. If the water company must have the Carmel River water, let them change where they take it. Instead of drawing water from up the valley, let them pump it from near the mouth of the river, from deep wells down where the water is clear and clean. This is the way Humbolt County acquires its water from the Mad River. They have constructed a dam (creating Ruth Lake, one of the most beautiful lakes in the West) solely for the purpose of assuring a year-round flow of Mad River to the mouth where their river wells are located. This could and should be done here. A secondary benefit of flood control would result.

Anyone for action?

Editor:

Baez University is asking the citizens of Carmel Valley to quietly accept its presence here. Its leaders surely are aware that most of us are diametrically opposed to the principals of B. U., that we fear and detest the ideas and ideals of such an institution, and generally feel that its champions are dupes or unwitting agents of our nation's enemies, and are in effect furthering the very causes they claim to be against. Obviously they are completely uninhibited by this aura of antagonism that hovers over them wherever they go in this country.

America is America because each of us is free to disseminate our own ideas, good or bad, through whatever means at our disposal as long as we do not violate the rights of other citizens.

If, however, most of the valley's residents believe as I do that the presence of this school is a threat to them and their children, to the very real and unique values we attribute to life in the Valley, and may contribute to a breakdown in the moral standards and ideals set forth by the founders of this free country of ours; then let's all stand up and be counted.

Use permits have been denied for many reasons – none of which will compare in importance to this one. We have the means and the legal right to oppose this blight now. Let us all be sure we have done everything we can legally do to stop this destructive, anti-American activity from centering here.

Write the Board of Supervisors. Sign petitions. Actively support and help organize legal opposition to it. Don't wait until it is too late.

Subscription Drive to benefit CHS band

The Carmel High School Band and Choir have been looking forward to their annual trip, hopefully to Disneyland, ever since they received their new uniforms. In the past they have raised money for trips with a number of money-raising ideas such as candy sales which brought small profits. They know that to finance a trip to Disneyland will require a lot more capital than they have raised in the past.

Outlook publisher Bill Norton, upon hearing of their plight decided to help them with their problem. He offered to allow members of the Band and Choir 50% of all subscriptions to the Outlook. The offer is valid whether or not band and choir members are directly responsible for the subscriptions.

Because of the City and County ordinances it is not possible to solicit from house to house for subscriptions. However with the 100 or more members in the combined band and choir, friends and families should be able to help put them over the top.

These kids are ambassadors of goodwill whenever they go on their jaunts. They have a good time, but put forth a good appearance and impression too.

If they are able to make the Disneyland trip the band will present a concert there. The Choir has also been asked to appear on a Los Angeles TV station with Easter music if the schedule works out.

Last Christmas when this choir appeared on Channel 2, singing carols, their 15 minute appearance was extended to a half hour because of the excellent quality of their voices. They have been asked to appear on Channel 2 again this Christmas, but the group doesn't know if they will have the time to become involved in the program.

Money that is raised by the current subscription fund raising drive will be used for transportation and accomodations on the trip.

The Thanksgiving week issue of the Carmel Valley Outlook will be published on Monday, November 22, instead of on Wednesday. Classified advertising must be in by noon on Saturday.

CUSD suspends bus service beyond Hastings Reservation

Bus service to the Upper Carmel Valley beyond Hastings Reservation will be terminated after the Christmas vacation, according to action taken by the Carmel Unified School District Board of Education in their meeting last Wednesday. The District has been providing bus service for the children in this remote area because of a Superior Court decision which was reversed by the appellate court and is now being appealed by the parents of the children.

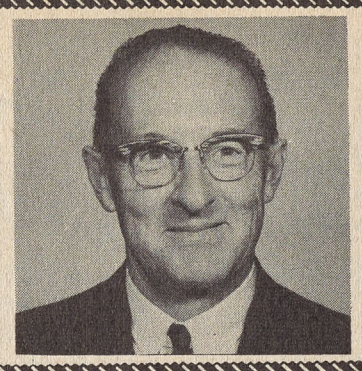

A spokesman at the office of Francis Heisler, attorney for the families involved, said that the appeal is due to come up after the first of the year, and no further action was contemplated prior to that time.

The decision to terminate the service came upon consultation with the Carmel Unified School District attorney on the case, Reichard Perry, and County Counsel William Stoffers.

In additional business, the appointment of a new school district physician, Dr. Daniel Gornel, was approved by the board as were the request for a leave of absence by Miss Mary Osborne of River School, and the employment of Mrs. Lorie Simmons to replace Charles Moody at Carmel High School for the remainder of this year.

CV Baptist Church plans Festival of Dedication

The Festival of Dedication of the First Baptist Church of Carmel Valley will begin on Thanksgiving Day at 4 p.m. At that time the new pipe organ will be dedicated with Lt. Bob Webb, organist, playing for the service. Rev. Ned Holmgren will officiate and the choir will present an anthem. Following the dedication, Mr. Charles Clarke, who installed the huge new organ, will present a lecture and recital which will explain and demonstrate the tonal resources of the instrument. Mr. Clarke has made many such large installations in the Los Angeles and Bay areas.

The dedication service and recital are open to everyone and the church extends a cordial welcome to the public.

Golden Gay Bluebirds visit behind the scenes at White Oaks

Members from the "Golden Gay" Bluebird group took a tour of White Oaks Theatre last week. The girls had an opportunity to see costumes in the making for the new play, "Affairs of Anatol." They also went through the carpentry shop, storerooms, green room, make-up and dressing rooms. The Bluebirds, junior division of the Campfire girls, were fascinated by "backstage" and spent a good deal of time getting a look at what goes on behind the scenes.

The tour was led by Ron Mitchell, the theatre's business manager, who explained the various operations.

The young ladies who took part in the tour were: Marian Doud, Carol Frisbie, Karin Lucas, Kathy Baker, Beth Wilsey, Kathryn Blevens, Jennifer Gray, Laural Porter, Laura Eyres, Susy Koon and Dana White. They were accompanied by their Bluebird leaders, Mrs. Earle Wilsey and Mrs. Mel Blevens.

Sheriff shoots suspected rabid fox

NOV. 8--At 1:45 a.m. a resident of Esquiline Road reported hearing three shots behind his house. Being experienced in fire arms he adjudged them from a .38 pistol. He then heard a sports car race off headed for town.

NOV. 8--May Youngberg of Town and Country Properties reported 15 orange flower pots with artificial geraniums stolen from the real estate office at a value of $70.

NOV. 7--Don R. Mason a resident of Carmel Valley Road reported a rabid fox in his back yard. The fox was still there and acting very strange when deputy arrived. Deputy was afraid to shoot with pistol because of congestion in the area, so he shot him with a shot gun. Fox was left to be picked up by Health Dept. for rabies examination.

NOV. 6--A resident of Lower Circle reported a neighbor had been shooting repeatedly which was in violation of county no-shooting ordinance. He denied it, but admitted owning a shotgun and .22.

NOV. 6--William Frisbie, reported that while he was checking a house on Rancho Road he found four windows shot with BB guns.

NOV. 5--Another resident of Lower Circle reported a neighbor had been shooting repeatedly. No one was home. District attorney is going to cite them in for discussion.

NOV. 4--Mr. Edwards, principal of CHS, reported theft. Deputy found some auto parts stolen from auto shop and metal shop. Over the last couple of months the instructor had developed leads as a result of which five male students were arrested and cited to juvenile hall for burglary in entering the building and committing theft. Investigation also disclosed that other thefts and burglaries from different companies and residences might be traced to the same students. Other students were implicated in receiving stolen property. All were from Carmel, one 15, one 16 and three 17 year olds.

NOV. 3-- A resident of Miramonte Road reported that during the first part of October some one stole a Kodak Medalist camera worth $100 and a Weston lightmeter valued at $10 from a garage at Miramonte Road.

NOV. 1--Bill Mallek, principal at Tularcitos, reported that someone had entered numerous rooms including offices and taken a number of small items and keys from the board. Because of the Halloween carnival the previous night there were no fingerprints that were traceable.

CVPOA directors oppose two building proposals

Two building proposals were emphatically opposed unanimously by the Board of the CVPOA at Thursday night's meeting.

An application by August Nieto for 131 apartments on property adjacent to his proposed golf course, located behind the Carmel Middle School met with complete opposition. The board members agreed to do their best to bring the matter to the attention of Valleyites since they feel the commercial apartment use has no place in a residential area.

A tentative proposal for a commercial building with a large parking lot to be located just inside the Carmel Knolls gate and adjacent to the Hatton Canyon freeway route was defined as a violation of the Carmel Valley Master Plan. The C.V. plan limits all commercial activities to locations along the Valley Road. CVPOA president St. E.P. Tyner, who is also president of the Carmel Knolls Property Owners Association, stated that they took this same action on November 9.

Among those present...the Bayliss's

CARMEL CITY CLERK, Hugh Bayliss and his wife, Charlsie, Poet Laureate of Monterey County, were among the guests at the recent Carmel Board of Realtors dinner dance held at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club last Saturday night. (Staff photo)

CVPOA directors urge adoption of slope density formula and area master plan

The Board of Directors of the CVPOA urged prompt adoption of the Slope Density formula after a report from the committee to study the Spangle Report, gave the results of their findings at last Thursday's meeting.

President St. E.P. Tyner was instructed to inform the Board of Supervisors of this position and at the same time stress adoption of the Area Master Plan with the changes which have been recommended by the County Planners. These changes basically follow those recommended by the CVPOA study group.

The CVPOA also will recommend that "G" zoning be eliminated completely from the Valley area. They feel that an unnecessary burden has been placed on the Planning Commission and the Board of Supervisors because of the many uses applied for in these areas which have brought Valley opposition. The CVPOA feels that the existing Valley commercial areas are more than adequate for many years, and uses which might apply for G zoning permits should be located in those existing commercially zoned lands.

Jack Harms, secretary, reported that the current membership drive has resulted in more than 165 new members which brings the total membership to over 445 persons.

Step Tyner commented that many people had procrastinated after the recent membership letter was sent out but when reminded, sent in their applications.

Tyner commented, "I have yet to be turned down when I approach non-members and explain the goals and purposes of CVPOA." "It is my opinion," he continued, "that every member will meet with the same success if he will take the trouble to explain CVPOA to non-members."

Tyner went on to say, "The formula is so simple that some folks won't even believe it. If we can grow to the point where we number the greater part of the Valley residents among our members and if we follow the democratic principles of majority rule; then the CVPOA will truly represent the Voice of the Valley, and we will speak with one powerful, respected and listened-to authority. The only opponents we have (and the biggest hurdle confronting us), are those who have reason to fear a united Valley and would prefer to divide and conquer in their efforts to destroy the most unique environment in the entire world."

In other action, the Board expressed their appreciation for the assistance given by the hundreds of people who helped make the Clean-Up Drive a success. Tyner said that Supervisor Tom Hudson has agreed to the placing of several trash cans at strategic locations in the Valley.

An account was given of how Shasta County has virtually eliminated litterbugging with a sentence of Five Days or Five (clean-up) Miles which was imposed on offenders. A person could not buy his way out. An added suggestion was that violators be required to wear orange-colored jackets with the words, "I am a litterbug" lettered on the back. These would serve the double purpose of shaming and safety-marking the individuals.

Carmel Valley Bluebirds fly-up at candlelight ceremony

A Candlelight ceremony was held at the Del Monte School multi-purpose room, Friday, November 5, for Blue Birds of the Monterey Peninsula who were "Flying-Up" into Camp Fire Girls.

These girls were presented with the official Camp Fire Girls red triangular tie, a graduation certificate and a navy blue felt patch with the Indian symbol for Blue Birds. These patches will be worn on their ceremonial jackets and will signify that now as Camp Fire Girls they had once been Blue Birds, the junior program of Camp Fire Girls, Inc.

The Blue Bird candle was lighted as well as the candles of the seven crafts: Business, Citizenship, Creative Arts, Frontiers, Home, Outdoors and Sports and Games. Older Camp Fire Girls taking part in the ceremony explained the seven crafts as each of the candles were lighted. The WoHeLo candles were then lighted. WoHeLo is the "watchword" of Camp Fire Girls and is made up of the first two letters of the words, Work, Health and Love. The ceremony closed with the singing of the Camp Fire Law.

Groups taking part in the ceremony and their leaders were from: Carmel Valley, Mrs. George Palmer, Jr.; Mrs. Art Harber; Pacific Grove, Mrs. Edwin Getz and Mrs. Dennis Rockwell; Seaside, Mrs. George L. Rye and Mrs. William Clem; Marina, Mrs. Robert Teague.

Outlook On Carmel

Section of the Carmel Valley Outlook

IN SPITE OF TREMENDOUS pre-game rally playing to standing room only crowds (above) Carmel High just didn't make it with Pacific Grove last weekend. Every possible precaution was taken to keep the Shoe at Carmel, including commandeering the services of Pacific Grove policeman, Harry Boyer, to help guard. Cheer leaders Kate Dalton and Tina Miller and Song Leader Marilyn Lane did their utmost, but after ten years, the trophy went to a wildly victorious PG after they trounced Carmel 26-18.

Reverend Whitfield leaves Church of the Wayfarer

On Sunday, the congregation of Carmel's Church of the Wayfarer regretfully heard the news from their minister, Reverend Lawrence K. Whitfield, that he had been invited to become the chaplain of the newly completed Good Samaritan Hospital in San Jose. The hospital, in operation only five weeks, is located on the western side of San Jose, a few minutes drive from Los Gatos.

Although the hospital has been completed, construction has just begun on the Chapel. The concept of a definite correlation between medicine and religion will be an integral part of the facility. In addition to calling on patients, Mr. Whitfield will also be responsible for Sunday Church services in the chapel, counselling of employees and families of patients, and coordinating seminars for doctors and clergymen.

The Samaritan is non-denominational in origin but it owes its existance to the efforts of a group of Episcopalians and Methodists who saw the need for such a medical care center in the Santa Clara Valley. Its six story structure has been designed so that it can be expanded to almost double its present capacity of 225 beds.

Mr. Whitfield, who is a former Navy chaplain, came to the Church of the Wayfarer 18 months ago. He has since been active in local civic affairs, being a member of the Carmel Rotary Club and on the Alcoholism Council of the Monterey Peninsula.

Methodist Bishop Donald Harvey Tippett and the local board will announce the transfer of another clergyman to assume the duties of Church of the Wayfarer when details have been completed.

High fashion, anecdotes on Woman's Club program

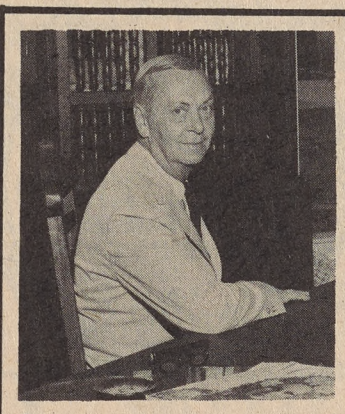

Mme. Genevieve Antoine Dariaux, Directrice of the couture house of Nina Ricci, will be the guest speaker of the Carmel Woman's Club on 22 November at 2 p.m. This will be an Open General Meeting to which the public is invited at the usual nominal guest fee.

Mme. Dariaux is the author of "Elegance and Elegance in Entertaining," which was just recently published. She has visited many of our leading American cities and addressed numerous Book and Author luncheons. She has also made appearances on such television shows as "Arlene Francis", "Monitor" and "To Tell the Truth." In her lecture she will discuss current and future fashion trends interspersed with anecdotes concerning her career in the fashion field and some of the internationally famous client-friends she has made throughout the years.

Immediately following the meeting refreshments will be served. At the Punch Bowl assisting the Hospitality Chairman, Mrs. Dudley Miles, will be Mrs. Thornton C. Fry, Mrs. Raymond G. Conan, Mrs. Leon F. Ender, Mrs. C. H. Taggart, Mrs. W. G. Thrail and Mrs. Frank Heywood.

AFA Christmas Creations party slated for Dec. 7-8

Mary had a little lamb...and you can have one, too! And in time for Christmas if you are the lucky winner of the door prize at the American Federation of Arts annual Christmas Creations party on December 7 and 8 at the Mark Thomas Inn.

A jacket of imported white India lamb from I. Magnin will be given away on the second day of this pre-Christmas event. The jacket, fashioned of "the" fur to wear this season, is designed to be worn during both summers and winters on the Peninsula.

Posters showing the stunning door prize have been placed throughout the area by Mrs. Mervin Sutton. The tickets are priced at $1 each or 12 for $10 and entitle the buyer to a chance on the jacket and admission to the Christmas Creations party on December 8 from 2 to 8 p.m.

The door prize tickets may be purchased at the stamp desk of Holman's in Pacific Grove, from Dr. Mildred Nichols at Hacienda Carmel and at the AFA Gallery on Lincoln in Carmel.

Mrs. Roderick Dewar, chairman of the door prize, has announced that arrangements may be made by clubs and organizations wishing to have the jacket modeled by calling 624-2918.

Holiday ornaments, decorations and artwork will be sold on December 7 from 6 to 8 p.m. during a champagne preview which is open to the public at an admission charge of $3 each. The Christmas goodies will also be on sale on December 8.

New social club organizes for bachelors & maidens

A new social group has been formed recently for unattached people over 30. A number of business and professional men and women in the area have felt the need for a group such as this, according to Claudine Van Fleet of Carmel. The first get-together - and - get - acquainted event was a no-host cocktail party at Spindrift restaurant in Monterey on November 7.

Plans were revealed at that time for a "give-us-a-name" contest, the winner of which will be announced at the club's next event.

An organizational dinner meeting will be held on Friday, November 19, at the Smorgastable in Seaside. Social hour will begin at 6:30 with dinner at 7 p.m.

Anyone interested in further information or reservations should call Mrs. Van Fleet at 624-8170. Ideas and suggestions for the new organization will be appreciated.

New Lutheran Church opens at Middle School

The first worship service of the new St. Philip's Lutheran Church was held in the Drama Room of the Carmel Middle School last Sunday at 10:00 a.m. Pastor J. Bernhard Bretheim was assisted by the 20 voice choir of the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd in Salinas.

This new Lutheran Church is being established under the program of American Missions of The American Lutheran Church which has its headquarters in Minneapolis, Minnesota. Some 800 new congregations have been a part of this program of development since the merger of four Lutheran synods in 1960. The former American Lutheran, the Evangelical Lutheran, the Lutheran Free, and the United Evangelical Lutheran Churches are a part of this merger.

The Church has purchased a home to be used as a parsonage on Flanders Drive at Canyon Drive northeast of the Carmel High School in Carmel. The Pastor, his wife Hildur, and their two children, Daniel and JoAnn have been living there since early September. The Church office is currently being maintained in the Parsonage.

Purchase of a permanent site for the Church building is one of the current projects of the Pastor and the South Pacific District Committee on American Missions. Since the new congregation is intended to serve the Carmel and Carmel Valley areas, a site is being sought at the mouth of the Valley.

The program of St. Philip's will include a Church School to follow the Sunday worship service beginning December 5, at 10:50 each Sunday and concluding at 11:30 a.m. This schedule for the Sunday program is intended to encourage families to worship together and to study together. A choir is being organized this week on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Parsonage under the leadership of Mr. Richard Sheere of the Seaside High School Music department.

A religious survey of the Carmel and Carmel Valley areas has been started by the Pastor, who will be assisted by Miss Marilyn Rossing, an American Missions parish worker who has just arrived in Carmel.

People of Lutheran background and other interested persons who are desirous of information on the new Church are invited to call the Parsonage in Carmel, 624-6765, or make a visit to the Pastor's home and office. Thw Worship Services to be held regularly each Sunday at 10:00 a.m. are open to anyone who desires to participate in this venture of starting the new congregation.

Flamenco from Spain coming for NAACP benefit

Authentic Theatre Flamenco featuring Cruz Luna and his company from Spain will be presented at the Monterey Peninsula College Music Hall, Sunday, December 5. The program is a benefit performance for the Peninsula Branch of the NAACP.

Mr. Luna and his guitarist, Adonis Puertas, have worked at great length in the Spanish Theatre and present this art form with authenticity. Cruz Luna, was director of the Spanish Pavillion at the Seattle World's Fair in addition to performing in their programs. He has appeared in Mexico, Australia and throughout the United States, both in personal performances and on television, including the Ed Sullivan Show.

Adonis Puertas was born in Malaga, Spain, and at 18 years of age won a gold medal in competition with top Spanish guitarists. He has played in Cuba, Mexico and South America and was a soloist with the Ballet Espanol.

A matinee performance will be given at 3 p.m. and an evening one presented at 8 p.m. Admission is $2 for adults, $1 for children and $1.50 for students. Tickets are available at the Guitar Shop in Carmel, Abinante Music store, Monterey, Cecil's Ice Cream Shop, Pacific Grove, and at Plaza Linda Restaurant.

AUTHENTIC FLAMENCO DANCING will be presented by Cruz Luna (center) at the MPC Music Hall on Sunday, December 5. Francisca (at left) and Yolanda (right) will appear with Senor Luna in both a matinee and an evening performance.

MPC Concert Band slates concert

The 55-piece Monterey Peninsula College Concert Band, conducted by music instructor Henry Smith, will present a public concert Sunday, November 21, at 7:30 p.m. in Fort Ord Service Club No. 1.

The public is invited to attend without charge.

A varied program is planned to include "American Salute" by Morton Gould, "Moses" from "Portraits of the Bible" by Julian Work, "Music for a Festival" by Gordon Jacobs, "Costa Rican Dances" by Jose Quesada, "Thunder Song" by Finlayson, "Black Horse Troop" by John Phillip Souza.

Shakespeare's 'Comedy of Errors' at Circle Theatre is delightful

A jolly evening that sometimes borders on the edge of well done slapstick awaits those who attend the "Comedy of Errors" at Carmel's Circle Theater.

Shakespeare's 400 year old vehicle is presented by the Community Theater in the best tradition, with very few rough spots.

It takes the theater-goer a while to get used to the dialogue penned by Shakespeare and that's while the plot is being set.

The story revolves around two sets of identical twins who get involved in all sorts of mistaken identity situations. Director Fred Rider has chosen his twins so expertly the audience will have trouble identifying which twin is which and it all adds to the merriment.

The two brothers Antipholus are ably played by Nick Zanides and Peter Keuhn and their servants, the brothers Dromio, are played by Norman McPhee and Richard Bird. All proved themselves adroit in the delivery of the difficult dialogue.

Bird and McPhee, in their roles of Shakespearian clowns were properly rollicking. In all of the male parts the use of masks, in the traditional manner, is a marvelous foil and makes the confusion all the more perfect.

April Edwards, as Adriana, wife of Keuhn's Antipholus and Jonne - Marie Feiten, as her younger sister, were quite alluring and the only drawback this reviewer could see was the tendancy to be sing-songy.

All supporting and bit parts were well done by a cast that doubles in many instances to carry out the show. Two memorable supporting roles are presented by Horace Upshaw and Ruth Crews. Upshaw, with his tremendous voice, gave dignity and a humanness to the role of the duke. Miss Crews, as a courtesan, is lusty and brings a bit of extra verve to an already delightful show for the whole family.

Valleyite Don Laird, plays a merchant concerned with receiving payment for a debt and appears in the later scenes.

If one stops to think, of course, the entire play could have been solved, if someone had asked one or two simple questions. But then, the fun would stop and there would be no play. It is light fare, with little or no characterization, just situations.

"Comedy of Errors" plays Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights at the Circle Theatre in Carmel. Performances will be presented through December 19.

Illustrated talk on 'Church Art of Ethiopa' Thursday at AFA

"Church Art of Ethiopia," currently being shown in the gallery of the Monterey Peninsula chapter of the American Federation of Arts, will be the colorful background setting for an evening in Ethiopia shown in colored slides by Dr. Linden G. Leavitt, Jr., tomorrow evening, November 18 at 8 p.m.

Dr. Leavitt was invited by Emperor Haile Selassie to establish a Creative Arts Centre to preserve traditional Ethiopian arts forms and to introduce Western Art Techniques in his country. During these two years Dr. Leavitt was Dean of the University extension at Haile Selassie University in Addis Ababa. In addition to his work with Ethiopian artists, he traveled extensively throughout the Empire collecting both contemporary and old examples of folk art. He is now well-known for his large collection of Ethiopian art, probably the largest in the U.S.

Dr. Leavitt is executive secretary of the College Association for Public Events and Services and resides in Del Monte Forest with his wife and son.

Reservations for his lecture are requested. Tickets at $1.00 each for AFA members and $2.00 for non-members are available at AFA gallery, Lincoln, south of Ocean in Carmel.

Sid Ormsbee Lookout Station

BAS RELIEF CARVING in stone near the state fire lookout on the mountain on the south side of Carmel Valley was done by Bill Livingston, when he manned the station. Standing 2,200 feet above the Valley, he no doubt had plenty of wandering deer as company and models for his stone carving.

The Monterey Division of the State Division of Forestry gives fire protection to some 200,000 acres from Big Sur to the Santa Cruz County border and from Carmel Valley to the Pacific.

At the peak of the fire season, its two stations, headquarters on Carmel Valley Hill between Monterey and Carmel, and the Carmel Valley Tularcitos station above the Village, employ about 25 men.

Thier eyes are those of the Reddishes, 2020 feet high in the Sid Ormsbee lookout, high on Pinos Peak, on the south side of Carmel Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Dana Reddish have served in the cozy lookout every summer since 1959 and were lookouts on a mountain in Santa Clara county for eight summers before that. He is a retired merchant marine sailor, and they enjoy traveling during the winter.

Service in a fire lookout is steady for four days of the week, with three off. However, the Reddishes usually save thier time off for a consecutive week or more off every month. A relief lookout then takes over.

The comfortable lookout looks round and shining from the Valley, but is square and white wood up close. It is four stories high, with a garage for their car on the ground floor, a store room on the second, a bedroom apartment on the third and a living room-dining room-lookout room on the top, surrounded by a deck.

If they spot smoke, they try to line it up with the assistance of another lookout, to locate it exactly through traingulation. There is another State Division of Forestry lookout in Pinnacles National Monument in the Hollister area. They also cooperate with the U.S. Forest Service lookouts in the two Los Padres National Forest lookouts, on Chews Ridge and on Ventana Double Cone closer to the coast, back of Big Sur.

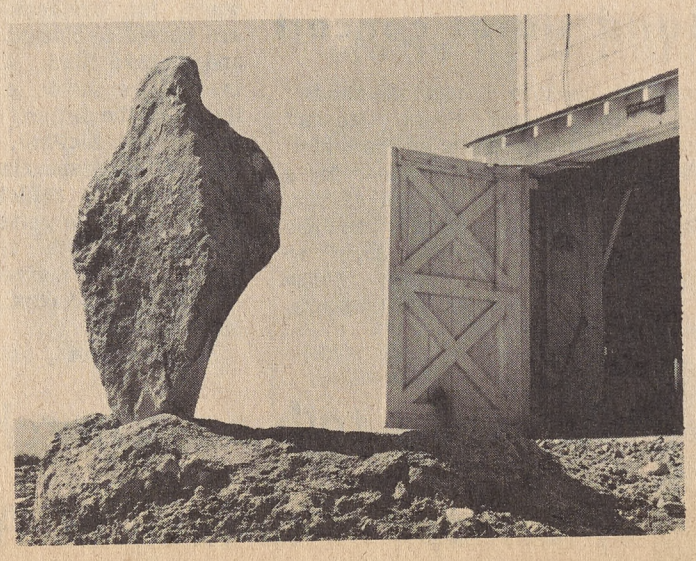

The Sid Ormsbee lookout is on a two-acre site leased from the San Carlos ranch. Its entrance road takes off just this side of the small lake on the ranch from the county road.

Water is brought to the lookout every four days or so for their use, by one of the fire trucks. Food is also usually brought up to them.

In charge of the Monterey division is Harvey McAuley, who has been here since 1946. Headquarters for the entire county of the State Division of Forestry is in King City.

FORESTRY SERVICE PROT
200,000 ACRES FROM DA

A HOME ON TOP OF THE WORLD, the lookout is a pleasant and cozy apartment. Here Mrs. Dana Reddish, who with her husband, who stands on the balcony outside, are the firewatchers in the State Division of Forestry lookout. She chats with Patrolman Ray Keane who drove up with supplies. The lookout tower which is square although it looks round from a distance, is four stories high. A car garage is on the ground floor, storage on the second, a bedroom on the third and the lookout room and dining room on top. The Reddishes have spent from May into November in the lookout since 1959.

GATEWAY to the three and a half mile road which winds its way up Pinyon Peak through the Oppenheimer San Carlos Ranch to the state look. Sid Ormsbee, for whom the lookout is named, was an assistant ranger who was killed in World War II. The lookout, which gleams white on a peak on the south side of Carmel Valley, is operated by the State Division of Forestry.

NERVE CENTER of the State Division of Forestry fire defenses system is the Carmel Hill station. Assistant State Ranger Harry McAuley, who is in charge of this area, holds the microphone. Seated is Acting Dispatcher Don Stacy. This is located at the State headquarters' station near the Pacific Grove cutoff and Highway 1. Fire alerts are phoned here from the Sid Ormsbee Lookout tower 2,200 feet high on Pinyon Peak on the south side of Carmel Valley; the dispatcher then sends out fire trucks from his central station or the Tularcitos State Forestry station above Carmel Valley Village. He also communicates and coordinates information with U.S. Forest Service foresters of the Los Padres National Forest and their two lookouts and another State Forestry lookout in the Pinnacles National Monument area.

Fire stations depots for toys for needy children

Mrs. Thompson J. Hudson, chairman of the Monterey Peninsula Christmas Bureau, had announced that the group is again collecting toys to give underprivileged children at Christmas time. Any toys in good or repairable condition may be left at the nearest Fire Station.

She added that bicycles are particulary needed since with a bike a boy may take a paper route to help implement his family's income. Bicycles and large steel toys will be repaired by men at the Naval Air Facility.

Everyone is urged to leave contributions as early as possible to make a happy Christmas for the less fortunate. For further information please call Mrs. Hudson at 624-5331.

VIOLINISTS John Morrice of Carmel and Christine Beckstrom of Carmel Valley rehearse for Sunday's concert presented by the Monterey County Symphony Youth Orchestra. The sixty youngsters, under the direction of Symphony conductor John Gosling, will present a varied program that will appeal to members of the entire family. This opening performance will begin at 3 p.m. in the Salinas High School auditorium. (Photo by Richard Trueblood)

Youth Orchestra to open season

The Monterey County Symphony Youth Orchestra, an ensemble of 60 young musicians (sixth grade through junior college) will open its third season with a festive program, next Sunday evening in Salinas High School Auditorium, with Symphony Conductor John Gosling on the dais.

Organized by Mr. Gosling in 1963, in close cooperation with school districts in all parts of Monterey County, the orchestra has flourished. In advance of individual audition each young instrumentalist must have permission from the music head of his or her school to attend rehearsals and participate in programs.

In the spring of '65 the group went on tour, visiting eight school districts and performing before 5,000 students. A similar tour, with even wider scope is planned for early 1966.

Sunday's concer, commencing at 3 p.m. will be open to the public, free of charge. The widely varied program was designed by Mr. Gosling to entertain listeners of all ages. Both the senior orchestra and the youth group have members from Carmel and Carmel Valley.

Under the Oaks and Among the Cacti

By Mildred Hattan

A new arrival, their first child, was welcomed November 3 by Mr. and Mrs. Mark I. Starr, 100 Ford Road. Born at the Community Hospital, Stefan David weighed 4 lb. 12 oz. His maternal grandparents who plan a visit to our country next year are Adele and Kurt Kroeger of Bruaunschweig, Germany. His paternal grandparents are Marian and Louis Starr of New Rochelle, New York.

Friends who saw Lou Ebert while he was on the Peninsula last week on business heard an enthusiastic report of ranch life in Redmond, Oregon. Until recently Lois, Lou, and daughter Becky made their home in the Valley on Country Club Drive.

Jay and the Mark Five, a wildly enthusiastic combo from MPC provided (wild and enthusiastic, what else) music for the third annual Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department Masquerade Ball. Seventy Firemen and their guests gathered at Rancho Del Monte Resort last Saturday night for the affair. The influence of "Pop Art" was evident among the costumes such as the robes covered with bright magazine cutouts designed and worn by June and John Woods. Eskimos, Hawaiians, Spaniards, Swiss, Chinese, Westeners, dalmations, wolf men, Klansmen, Friars, clowns and plain ordinary folks enjoyed the evening planned by social chairman, George Palmer.

Mrs. Jack Lundin of Poppy Road was hostess to a foursome who drove down for the Holiday Foods and Fancies sponsored last week by the C.V. Women's Club. Arriving from Los Gatos were her daughter, Mrs. P.G. Denevi, accompanied by Mrs. Al Barker, Mrs. Robert Follendorf and from Saratoga, Mrs. James Stokes.

The Carmel Valley Duplicate Bridge Club met last tuesday evening at Rancho Del Monte Resort where winners of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Graham Mathews, first; M. L. Stoney and Mike Antoncich, second; Mrs. M. L. Stoney and Col. A. L. Friendenthal, third.

At 1:05 a.m. Thursday, November 4, Mr. and Mrs. L. Gordon Lute of West Carmel Valley Road qualified to share the name of a current television series, "My Three Sons." Kenneth Edward arrived at the Community Hospital weighing 8 lb. 5 oz. He joins brothers, Robert and Gordon. Adding their welcome in Carmel Valley were his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ada Ferguson of Salinas and Leo Lutes of Grass Valley.

Miss Pamela Hopkins invited her party guests to spend Sunday afternoon at the Tantamount Theater where they enjoyed the cast from the Little Lyric Theater of Big Sur in productions of "King Arthur and the Saxons" and "Forward and Backward." "Elves" from the Carmel Valley Community Chapel Guild met last week at the home of Mrs. L. L. Dickie on Laurel Drive for a "Felt Workshop." Nimble fingers assembled irresistible gift and party items which will be sold in Santa's Workshop at their Christmas Bazaar, December 4 at Fellowship Hall. Among them are three sizes of Santa's socks for children to hang, men's vests, card holders, and an exquisite "Mr. and Mrs. boot" designed by Mrs. Dickie. Among the workers were Mmes. Thomas McKiernon, Richard Lee, Helen Gilmore, Ben Updike, Merle Johnson, and Irving Ollason.

The Braille Benefit Bake sale sponsored last Saturday by members of the Carmel Valley Lionettes wws not only successfull fund-wise, but also gained two new friends for the community. A Canadian couple traveling through followed the clever signs made by Mrs. Richard Gayman advertising the baked goods and arrived at the Talbott Building to make a purchase. They were overheard to wish that they had some coffee to go with some of the appetizing cupcakes, so the Lionettes shared the pot which was heating on a hot plate for the work-

Bob's Corner HOUSEHOLD HINTS

BY BOB LAMBERT
Owner of Valley Appliance Sales & Service 659-4039.

This week a few words about ovens and oven cleaners. For quite awhile now I have noticed a great similarity in certain types of oven failures. Recently I have run into four similar failures that ended in electrical fires in ovens. Upon examination I have been able to trace these failures to certain types of oven cleaners, and their improper use. During the broiling process the intense heat drives great quantities of grease into the atmosphere. This circulates around the inside of the oven and comes out of the oven and into the air in the kitchen. It also penetrates all the cracks and crevices in the oven itself. After this process has been continued for some time small deposits of grease accumulate inside some of the electrical components. The biggest offender is the oven door switch which has quite a crack around the button. The thermostat is next in line, electronic clocks and broil controls are third and fourth. The grease that seeps into these components solidifies upon cooling of the oven and causes a film inside the bakelite case and around the contacts. This doesn't affect the operation of the component too much, but it is a potential fire hazard when it becomes dissolved. Normally, this film stays in the solid state, even after the next time the oven is used. The trouble doesn't start until the grease film is dissolved. The liquid accumulates in the bottom of the bakelite cases causing a dead short in the electrical contacts inside and this arcing starts it burning--hence a fire.

There are several types of oven cleaners on the market today. Some are mild, most are very harsh, but the very nature of the job which they are designed to do makes them harsh. Basically they make a chemical change in the baked on greases in the oven itself, to a liquid or paste which can be wiped out by hand, easily, and herein lies the big problem and danger. Chemical action which attacks the burnt on grease also attacks aluminum and copper and other types of porous metals. The fumes that are released from these chemical cleaners penetrate all the cracks and crevices that the original grease did. Also getting into the electrical components attacking the grease films inside and creating the same problem. Here lies the danger--electrical fires or component failure. Those chemicals which attack the copper components in the oven itself attack the thermo bulb which senses the temperature and controls the thermostat itself, eventually eating little pinholes into it, making them ineffective--hence, thermostat failure. It also filters back into the rear of the oven compartment and attacks the copper wires at the terminals, helping them to burn off.

The cure for all these troubles isn't easy. Cleaning an oven with a lot of baked on grease is extremely difficult and requires a lot of elbow grease. That is why these oven cleaners are popular, but their use should be limited to absolute necessity. Of course, if an oven is wiped out after each use it isn't necessary to use a harsh cleaner. Also, if a silicone base spray is used, such as Oven Guard, it creates a coating on the oven which will not allow burnt on greases to stick and can be wiped out quite easily. If it becomes necessary to use these harsh oven cleaners, a few precautions should be taken first. If you use the type that is put on with a brush, brush only those parts that are protected by porcelain. Keep away from all electrical components so that direct contact cannot be made, and first and foremost--always turn off the electric switch that controls the power to the oven so that when fumes do penetrate to electrical components they do not cause electrical fires. When the cleaning job is complete, and the oven has aired out for several hours, then turn the power switch back on and hope for the best.

According to home economists, this resorting to caustic oven cleaners shouldn't be tackled but once or twice a year. One of the most dangerous type of oven cleaners I have run into yet is the type of can that you perforate the top, fill with water, place inside the oven and take off, removing all plants, animals and yourself from the entire area until things settle down. The fumes from this type of cleaner penetrate the entire oven. Not only do they get rid of the grease, but they attack everything in sight. Believe me, it does much too thorough a job. Anybody who wants to doubt my word on this score should contact the local Fire Chief. What I have failed to put across I am quite sure he can. I also might add in passing, that smoke isn't too damaging. The electrical sparks and displays coming from shorted wires and components is quite dazzling but rarely harmful to the individual. The big shock and damage usually comes from the lawyers of the hired help who witnessed this display. Let a word to the wise be sufficient.

AFTER A SHORT EVENING prayer service last Wednesday, members of St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church walked through the various parts of the church complex as they were dedicated by the Rt. Reverend Richard Millard, Suffragen Bishop of California. Before continuing into the new Sunday School wing, at left, everyone paused in the breezeway between it and the church, at right.

St. Dunstan's School dedication celebrated with potluck supper

The dedication of the new Sunday School addition at St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church on Robinson Canyon Road took the form of a blessing in each part of the building and breezeway adjacent to the Church itself. The Right Reverend Richard Millard, Suffragan Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of California passed from part to part with the congregation and stopped in the open foyer, the Sunday School rooms and the kitchen with appropriate prayer for each.

After the dedication about 100 persons attended a family potluck supper held in the new addition.

l'Alliance Francaise fetes old and new officers with gala gourmet buffet

Recently Mr. and Mrs. Gaspard Weiss of the Institute of Foreign Studies offered their home for the soiree honoring the change over of the Presidency of l'Alliance Francaise of the Monterey Peninsula. Mrs. Bietry-Salinger Carlson, president for the past three years, turned over her duties to Mr. Henri Corbat, the new president.

The staff of the board of directors produced a gourmet buffet which included coq au vin, salade varte avoc roguefort and gateau au chocolat et mocha. French wines added a true Gallic spirit to the occasion.

On October 31 a Sunday brunch was held at the Carmel Valley Inn which consisted of salade de fruits, souffle' au fromage, petits pains, cafe' en abondance and creme a la glace. Special guests of honor were the Consul General of Switzerland, Mr. and Mrs. Jean Studer of San Francisco and two French speaking artists, Mr . and Mrs. Jean-Bard of Geneva. During the lunch the new president of l' Alliance presented Mrs. Carlson with a beautiful silver statuette.

The gift is the work of two nationally known Carmel artists Malcolm Moran and Donald Buby. It is the "Red Balloon" inspired by the charming french book "The Boy With the Red Balloon" which was made into a very successful film. Mrs. Carlson in turn presented one of the Vice Presidents of our local Alliance, Mrs. Hathaway, with a lovely French book illustrated with famous art paintings. This was in memory of Mrs. Hathaway's French mother, Madame Alice Legrand, much loved member of the Alliance. After the luncheon the group met at the Tantamount Theatre for a recital of French prose, poetry and classical theatre presented to a full house by the talented Jean-Bards.

80 citizens join Hospital's blood plan

Eighty citizens have joined Community Hospital's new blood plan, Dr. Osman Hull and Dr. Jack Daniels, pathologists at the hospital, said today.

Under the blood service plan, which was instituted in cooperation with the Delta Blood Band of Stockton, whole families can become members and be protected against the cost of obtaining blood from a blood bank by one member contributing one pint of blood per year. The plan is good anywhere.

The initial response was so good that during August and September the program provided one-third of the blood needed at the hospital.

The plan, which supplements the Red Cross program is primarily for emergency cases where fresh blood is urgently needed.

Persons who have given a pint of blood are urged to come back to the hospital in four months and contribute again, thereby earning the privilege of designating friends as recipients of the protection plan.

Anyone wishing to join may telephone the hospital laboratory at 624-5311. A brochure with detailed information will be sent to those requesting

DID YOU KNOW....

Pacific Grove is called "Butterfly Town, U. S. A." because hundreds of thousands of Monarch butterflies annually migrate in winter to groves of trees in the city. What makes creatures travel in a body more than 3,000 miles, and always seek the same grove of pine trees that their ancestors sought before them. There is an ordinance imposing a fine of $500.00 or a possible six month jail sentence for "molesting butterflies."

A Butterfly Parade highlights the local celebration honoring the Monarchs, held on the last Saturday morning in October under the auspices of the elementary schools and P. T. A.

Last October 30 hundreds of costumed school children paraded through the main streets in a colorful welcome to returning Monarchs. Each school carried out a theme pertinent to the occasion.

You're always as close to home and the babysitter as the nearest telephone. When you can, it's a good idea to inform your babysitter of the telephone number where you'll be. That way, she can reach you immediately if she needs to. But if you're going to be several places during the evening, you can always call home to see if everything is all right. One of the best things about your phone is that it allows you to be in two places at once.

HAPPY THANKSGIVING from all of us at Pacific Telephone!

As a reminder....reduced long distance rates will be in effect all day on Thanksgiving. For those of you planning to call family and friends outside the Monterey area we would suggest calling earlier in the day to avoid the evening rush and possible busy circuits typical of many holidays during the year.

Farm-City Week is November 19–25. And here's a timely reminder from the California Farm Bureau Federation: "California is now the greatest agricultural state in the U.S.A. Every year it produces more than $3.5 billion dollars' worth of food and other crops. And one out of every three jobs in California is related to agriculture." The phone has always been important on the farm—often it was one of the few regular contacts with the "outside world." We at the phone company are proud to have played a small part in the agricultural boom.

ers. The travelers were impressed with the project, the home made pastries and promised to return to our friendly Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Dufur of Hitchcock Canyon have returned from a hunting vacation. The first part of their trip was spent in Ridgeway, Colorado, with relatives. An early snow storm knocked down power poles, dropped a foot of snow in Ridgeway and left four feet of snow in the nearby mountains. At Blanding, Utah, they were joined by Valleyites Dick Gayman, Lloyd Todd, and Kirk Gayman all of whom bagged their limits. The hunting party had first class guide service from two of Lee's uncles who are trappers, and one who is the sheriff of San Juan, Arizona. Eileen, armed with her camera, had a field day photographing the canyons and mesas of the "Four Corners Section" in beautiful Indian Summer weather. The country is reservation land of the Ute Indians, just out of Monument Valley.

MPVS winds up fall projects, donates $9000 to Monterey agencies

An annual luncheon at Spindrift Restaurant attended by 120 members and friends last Friday marked the close of the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services annual fall project. Honor guests representing the three agencies benefitting from Tombola Mart sales were in turn introduced by MPVS members acting as liaison officers. Mrs. Wesley Heard presented a check to Mr. John Williams, Assistant Administrator of the Peninsula Community Hospital on behalf of the Cancer Cobalt Fund; Mrs. Allan Craig introduced Mrs. Margaret Coleman of Handicapped Activities Unlimited; and Mrs. C. Willis Fisher presented the Visiting Nurse Association share of the proceeds to Mrs. John Gratiot.

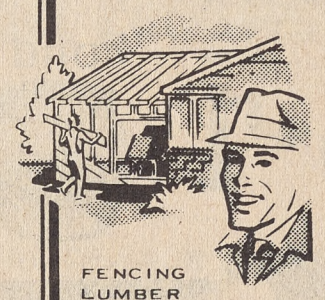

The meeting presided over by Miss Ruth Blanchard, President, also honored Miss Irene Palmer, Chairman of The Tombola Mart, who received a standing ovation for her months of preparation and leadership.

One of the most carefully guarded secrets of the month was finally revealed with Miss Blanchard's announcement that the sum from The Tombola Mart to be distributed totaled $9192.30.

Additional Christmas donations were made to the Senior Citizens Club of Seaside, to the Volunteer Auxilliary of Monterey County Hospital, to the Monterey Peninsula Community Chest and to the Monterey Institute for Speech and Hearing for purchase of a diagnostic audiometer.

The meeting concluded with a request that members bring their donations of Christmas toys to the meeting of December third which will be a tea honoring the 1966 Board of Officers.

A plan for living . . . not to save the world

(An interview with Joan Baez)

It was a truly tranquil and unviolent scene that met the eyes of this reporter upon arrival at the Institute for the study of Non-Violence, which has been the subject of much vehement thinking in the Valley. It would appear, on the surface at least, that the violence which opponents feel this school will breed is in their eyes alone.

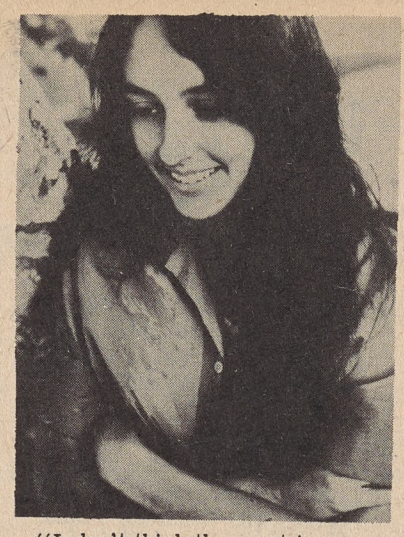

This was the last day of operation until the Board of Supervisors on Nov. 30 acts on the appeal which opponents to the school have filed to force its discontinuance. Miss Baez had offered to talk about her own thoughts and reasons for operating the school in the face of such opposition and to attempt to answer some of the questions that have been asked in the Valley.

As we walked into the building, a young man seated on a stone wall in the garden continued reading another stretched under a tree, doing the same, did not look up and two young people who were seated looking into the roaring fireplace scarcely were aware of a stranger in their midst. They appeared deep in thought...self contemplation, according to Miss Baez.

In conversation Miss Baez reiterated that non-violence has been a part of her life since before the Viet Nam war and was her basis for living. On an extended basis she feels it is the answer to violence throughout the world. "Violence cannot be stopped by more violence," she added.

Miss Baez was asked what her program was for improving world conditions, and how did she relate the school to an active level.

"Rather than try and give someone a formula, which you can't do, I would like to try and put people in an atmosphere where they can think and develop ideas. I look at the school as an embroyo. In a way, it's just a baby...just a beginning, and we certainly can't say that this is our program to save the world. If people exist in an atmosphere where they learn to know their own souls and minds and are better able to face up to different situations, then on any given day or at any given moment, they won't do something stupid, or violent or unthoughtful ... rather their minds are open to all alternatives that exist."

"I don't think the most important thing in the world is to be an American. I think the most important thing is to be a human being...and to recognize that if we don't allow other people to live, then there is something wrong with the American way of life...a brotherhood of all people is more important than America Above Al."

--Joan Baez

In reference to "the kind of people who would come to her school, Miss Baez said that many of them are former students who were not able to find out all they wished in college. Some have bee n acquainted with non-violence philosophy before coming, others knew nothing at all about it and were curious.

She said "It's been great! There is no set pattern. I have no idea who will come next, but I would like to add that anybody is invited. We do not screen, but would like a person to write and tell us why he wants to come to the school. If we feel they don't have a valid reason, then there is no sense in their joining. Certainly if someone from the military or the John Birch Society were to say I'd like to come to your school and see what it is all about--and they were genuine, they'd be as welcome as anyone."

"I have been called politically naive and I agree that I am. But I would like to point out that politicians and heads of state responsible for running the world are also politically naive or we wouldn't be in the mess we are in. I feel that there is a combination of greediness and naivity that has governed our policies. If politicians were really sharp, then we wouldn't have war, but would have the peaceable world that we say we want." She added that the way to win a country that is hungry is to send food or a hundred other things that would be constructive rather than join in dropping bombs."

"But," she hurried to add, "I think one still has to be asked...you can't do something for someone else unless you are wanted even if you mean well. This is true of people and countries."

When asked why she doesn't take her school to another location, Miss Baez replied, "I happen to live in the Valley and I think it is very beautiful. I fell in love with this building and I love the Valley and I want to stay here."

If they had foreseen the huge controversy which has resulted they might have thought of another way, she said, but she found the building and fell in love with it and the peaceful setting and bought it. Then the huge trauma took place. She added, "It will take an awful fight to get me out of the school now. If the Board of Supervisors reverses the decision, I will certainly take it to court."

Miss Baez concluded by saying, "I think there must be a more humane way to live than to accept killing for any reason. I am a full-time student, trying to learn an answer."
